

International Open Day Invitation for interested students

9th of April 2014

Fontys International Business School (FIBS) is part of the leading Dutch Fontys University of Applied Sciences offering international bachelor and master programmes in English, Dutch and German. Based in the city of Venlo, located close to the border with Germany and Belgium, FIBS offers students a career in one of Europe's most dynamic regions. Currently, Fontys Venlo counts about 4.000 students. 70 per cent of them come from over 40 different countries (the majority being from Germany).

On the 9th of April 2014, we invite all interested students to join our International Open Day where they will be introduced to our university, its student life and the city of Venlo. During these days we'll also inform you about our application process and answer your questions. The Open Day provides a good opportunity to update your knowledge and impressions of FIBS by special campus tours, briefings and other activities. Therefore, we hope to welcoming you in the beginning of April.
